Clive's Comments

Happy Chinese New Year for last month as the year of the Horse takes over. The horse has a reputation for energy, strength and independence that symbolises ambition, courage, and forward motion. In this year we should feel inspired to be bold, take creative risks and embrace new challenges. At the same time we must maintain a balanced approach, be patient and keep our lives stable. If we can manage to pull all these together we should have a good year.

We do live in challenging times and we need to try and plan our business development in a new world. There is a lot of discussion about the role that AI will play in our lives as we move forward. Personally I don't believe AI will take many long term jobs. It will significantly change the way many jobs are done and the key driver in many office based work places will not be knowledge but how you apply the knowledge and how you relate to those around you. I use AI to summarise what Google finds but I am very wary of what it says. I have tested with questions on issues that I am well versed and found the answers lacking at best and wrong at worst. Sometimes if I repeat and rephrase the question I get a different and better answer. This is fine when it is being used to summarise or back up what is known but a concern with new subjects....

.... The worry is when someone is new to a topic they will just accept the first answer. It is when this person needs to apply their new knowledge that they will need to speak to a person. The demand going forward will not be for knowledge but on how to implement it in the real world. We will lose lots of jobs where the answer is simple and black and white but will have an increase in employment where the answers need to be applied in life. A bit like the changes in work places when machines replaced people in the industrial revolution.

The bigger damage to the workplace is when the Victorian Government makes it mandatory for employers to offer work from home. I already have two suppliers that have moved at least one job each to the Philippines. These are jobs that would have been done here in an office but now that the systems allow for remote working they went overseas. If the government keeps raising taxes, toughening up work conditions and increasing wages business will move jobs overseas. We can build large data centres here but can we power them? How much will state and commonwealth governments tax them as the traditional small business model starts to fall over?

Victoria, South Australia and Western Australia have elections in the next 12 months. SA and WA seem to be reasonably stable with economies that are not in freefall. Victoria on the other hand is a basket case. Every day there is another report saying that Victorians pay the highest for xxxxx in the country. A report saying that xx businesses have moved interstate? Our roads are falling to pieces, our medical system is a mess, police are understaffed and under funded and the Fire service is short of everything. We are paying the most in property taxes and many working class families are being forced to sell their holiday homes and if you have invested in property you are the target for the state tax office.

The election will be critical for the security of small business and working class people in Victoria. It is expected our state debt will hit $165 billion in this FY. This is 200% of our annual operating revenue making us one of the worst states/counties in developed world. Our interest rate is currently $7.7 billion per annum or $21.15million per day or just under a million dollars per hour. This is a state school a week or a new state of the art fire truck every two hours.

The issue for the election is the dynamics between the main voting blocks. The rise of One Nation in attracting first preference votes will have a major effect on the election. The experts are predicting all sorts results but we just won't know as the driving issue will be the preferences. Most Australians don't really understand how preferences work and in many seats the result will be determined by second and third preferences. The real worry is that we may end up with a large cohort of Greens, One Nation, Teals and independents resulting in a minority government.

This is all out of our control and all we can manage is how we plan our nurseries and plant production. To do this we need to be on top of the best options to manage our plants and AI may give you some answers but only you and your staff can interpret them in line with your local environment and conditions. IPPS has the motto od to Seek and Share maybe we will need to add – Understand and Implement.

Enjoy the cooler weather that March brings and plan for a boomer autumn. Take some bold decisions and try some new plants!

Clive Larkman

Do you want or need to import live plants?

If so, you may need to use a Post Entry Quarantine facility (PEQ)

- We have a PEQ facility with ability to handle the majority of plants
- Deflask tissue culture in PEQ or in regular nursery conditions
- Advise on packing and handling to minimise risk to plant health
- Assist in obtaining import permits
- Organise fumigation and insecticidal dips
- Will collect from airport
- Ship Australia wide once cleared PEQ (WA restrictions for new varieties may apply.)
- Pot on into larger pots post PEQ
- Bulk up stock post PEQ
- 30 years experience in plant importation
- 35 years experience in plant growing
- Handle one plant to several thousand.
- Fully licensed with Biosecurity and Bordel Control
