Clive's Comments

I am sitting at the Melbourne International Flower and Garden Show enjoying a brief respite from our stand. It is a delightful autumn day in Melbourne and the atmosphere is really positive. So far this year's show has been great – numbers are good, displays are high quality and it just feels good.

Visitors are all upbeat and quick to buy. Many are looking for something different; plants, art, novelties or design and construction advice. This is our 14th attendance and we still enjoy it. I heard one comment that 'what we sell is just feel good and attracts nice people'.

Sometimes I think that we overlook the positive aspects of our industry and the joy we bring to people. Just listening to the love people have for plants is inspiring and the excitement when a passionate gardener finds a new treasure or a young child buys their first plant is satisfying.

We ran another successful Herb and Chilli Festival with just under five thousand coming through the gate. Over 12% were children (due to free entry and free rides etc) which is a positive for the community. Many of the...

young ones had as much enjoyment from the food offerings as the free entertainment. The weather was nearly perfect and our new run sheets worked well. Time to start planning for 2018.

One thing that annoys me a little is the Facebook posts about our exorbitant prices ($24 per adult. $18 concession and free U14). Most are anonymous posts or fail to respond to my replies to them. I am not sure there are many other places you can get a full day's entertainment for this price. I doubt they have been, so I don't know what they get for the money. I also wonder if they have any idea about the cost of things like: security, insurance, staff, marquees, entertainers and car parking etc. I suspect they just go through life taking what they want with no empathy towards anyone else. I should ignore them, but I worry they may put off others and I just don't like negative people who want to pull things down rather than create.

On a positive note, most of Australia has had a mild summer which resulted in above average sales since Christmas. My thoughts go out the growers in Queensland dealing with another very wet period. Hopefully they will have a good autumn to make up for it. The economy is a bit sluggish and in some parts it is tight, due to low employment but overall demand for quality plants is still buoyant.

The big issue is the rising cost of staff and utilities. Most of our purchases from small to medium enterprises have remained at a comfortable price. However most of those expenses controlled by the government are rising – at rates much higher than inflation. Power, water, labour, taxes and government fees are uncontrolled. Our quarantine tunnel registration went up by 250%. This isn't for audits, inspections etc, just for putting our name in the registration list. Power is up by similar levels and looks like it's going higher. We are treated as a cheap money supply.

I know it is wishful thinking but it would be really nice if the people in charge would take the time to understand the work, commitment and risk involved in running a small business. Not just understand in theory, but really feel the pain and joy and worry. Perhaps it is time to have a regulation that all members of parliament spend at least ten years working for private enterprise or in their own business. This would have to exclude, law firms, unions and the education system as they need to be in touch with real people working real jobs. Anyway there is no harm in dreaming.

Wishing you all a great Easter and let's hope for a busy autumn and mild winter leading into a booming spring.
