A month is a long time in the modern world. This time last month life was good as we moved from a warm summer and looking to a great autumn. Now we have had four weeks of war in Iran which has resulted in crazy fuel prices. Someone is making really good money as we are paying close to double what we were paying in February for diesel and 60% more for petrol. Even LPG has gone up buy 50%. LPG is all made in Australia and the excuse is we have to pay the world price otherwise the producers will sell over seas. We also refine 10% of our own fuel. Not sure why we have to pay more for what we produce. The fuel we are using in late March was probably refined in SE Asia in late February before the war began. The refineries would have been paying around $US70 per barrel in February and $US104 now. So the refineries paid close to all time lows in February yet we are paying all time highs for that refined fuel. Even if they were paying the current price that is still an increase of 50% which is far less than the current increase in diesel prices. Unfortunately I suspect our government cannot do anything about this as they are foreign companies. We should have had higher levels of reserves as is being spoken about in the news but this would not have helped with prices. We should still be refining our own oil but our running costs (wages, power, taxes etc) would mean our pump cost would be too high. Also we have so many rules and regulations that no foreign company really wants to operate here. So that is no longer an option....

.... It will be interesting to see how long after the Strait of Hormuz opens that prices start to drop. It should be immediate (or around four weeks) but I suspect we won't see February pump prices until mid-winter. I also wonder how long it will take for the panic buying to stop. One report I read says that demand for petrol/diesel is up by 300% especially in metropolitan regions. Why? A bit like the great Toilet Paper crisis of the Covid era; more wanted than needed! Another interesting point is the use of fuel surcharges. I have no problem with transport companies applying a fuel surcharge as it is directly related to their running costs. However I am seeing some nurseries applying 5% (or more) of invoice cost. This means that 5% of their costs are directly linked to the rise in fuel costs. If they are tuning over $1million dollars per year their fuel costs in the last month have gone up by $4000 (5% = $50,000 = $4000 per month). That is an increase of $4000 which means they are spending in excess of $6000 per month on fuel. Seems a bit high to me and even large in-ground nurseries would not be paying that percentage.

The excuse is that they are now paying surcharges from all their suppliers. Again same argument in that I doubt all businesses are spending this level on fuel. So all that is happening is everyone is milking the system to get some extra income. A more realistic approach would be a 1 or 2% 'war surcharge'. This is probably not going to happen.

We all use plastic pots so I suspect that there will be a steep increase in the cost of plastic. Like in the plumbing sector there are steep prices coming for the imported pipes etc. We are lucky in that most of our labels and pots are produced here in Australia and hopefully the manufacturers are able to use locally recycled product and have good stocks on the ground. I suspect the two main players will do their best to shield the industry from these increases.

So we are in for some interesting times with input costs but we may also do well with increased demand. School holidays and Easter are coming which are normally times when people take family road trips and short overseas holiday. These will appear dearer so many may stay at home and work in the garden. Also they keep talking about food shortages which may prompt another burst in home food growing. Like during Covid many will want to grow their own,

Anyway the footy (AFL/NRL) season has started and we will start commenting on the performance of our team's coaches and players. Some will be really happy as their teams have some good wins and others will be sad and angry as theirs struggle. I am sure all the players and coaches all want to win just some are better than others.

We have just had an election in SA which went as to be expected. We have some bi-elections coming then the Victorian State election in November. The build up to this will be interesting as there are some major shifts in how Australians are looking at the two major parties and the second level ones. The old paradigm of us being Labour or Liberal/National has changed. The new state is such that the second tier parties will have a big effect on how the votes and preferences fall. We have a Westminster system which requires a party in power and a party in opposition. It doesn't work well when there are three or more parties with similar levels of elected members. So the cross benches could be important.

Anyway have a great autumn and sell lots. I hope your footy team wins except when playing Storm or St Kilda!

Clive Larkman

Do you want or need to import live plants?

If so, you may need to use a Post Entry Quarantine facility (PEQ)

- We have a PEQ facility with ability to handle the majority of plants
- Deflask tissue culture in PEQ or in regular nursery conditions
- Advise on packing and handling to minimise risk to plant health
- Assist in obtaining import permits
- Organise fumigation and insecticidal dips
- Will collect from airport
- Ship Australia wide once cleared PEQ (WA restrictions for new varieties may apply.)
- Pot on into larger pots post PEQ
- Bulk up stock post PEQ
- 30 years experience in plant importation
- 35 years experience in plant growing
- Handle one plant to several thousand.
- Fully licensed with Biosecurity and Border Control
