Clive's Comments

June and winter are here and for much of Australia it is case of we want the lovely sunny winter days but we also want the heavy rain to ensure we have water for our long hot summer. Whatever the weather does we still continue as usual. It will of course be a common point of discussion. Not sure why as we can't change it just have to deal with it. I have always liked the saying: "There's no such thing as bad weather, only unsuitable clothing." by Alfred Wainwright, A Coast to Coast Walk. I have just finished chairing my last IPPS Board meeting as President. As usual we discussed a lot of different points but what was new was the age range of the other board members. We have men and women from low twenties to low seventies from all states and across most sectors. Not only does it show a positive shift in our membership but reflects a wide shift across the whole of horticulture.....

.... We really are a diverse industry with no real levels of bias on gender, age, ethnicity or religion. Not really surprising as people from everywhere love to grow plants – for pleasure and for food.

Going forward we will build a knowledge base covering all aspects of plant production. The reality is that the business of plant production requires an understanding or the pure science of Botany, the hands on feel of horticulture and the experience of years of seasonal observations. Add these to a passion for plants and there is a successful plant company. The community needs lots of these as plants really are the base of a good society. They provide the food needed by all life plus ensure the air is clean and full of oxygen. They are also important in providing a feel of well being for all.

I have been concerned about the possible loss of knowledge as we shift generations. This would have been major if the shift was sharp and sudden but if we can build a gradual move across the generations then we can make sure the knowledge does so as well. The general feeling is that the knowledge is okay because AI etc will always be there to respond to questions. The problem is that AI can quote facts but it cannot input that 'gut feeling' that comes with years of working with living things. The AI supporters will say that this is a time thing and eventually it to can make intuitive guesses.

I doubt this to be the case but if it does it will be a long time in the future. In the meantime it is the continual mix of plants people and their experience that gives us the best future. IPPS like most other bodies is always chasing members yet is the best industry based body for enabling the transfer of both knowledge and understanding. So if you haven't thought of joining please do so. You will benefit and so will your colleagues. It is only through these transfers that our industry can grow but still be one dominated by real persons.

Clive Larkman

Do you want or need to import live plants?

If so, you may need to use a Post Entry Quarantine facility (PEQ)

- We have a PEQ facility with ability to handle the majority of plants
- Deflask tissue culture in PEQ or in regular nursery conditions
- Advise on packing and handling to minimise risk to plant health
- Assist in obtaining import permits
- Organise fumigation and insecticidal dips
- Will collect from airport
- Ship Australia wide once cleared PEQ (WA restrictions for new varieties may apply.)
- Pot on into larger pots post PEQ
- Bulk up stock post PEQ
- 30 years experience in plant importation
- 35 years experience in plant growing
- Handle one plant to several thousand.
- Fully licensed with Biosecurity and Bordel Control
